

“WILSON TOOL BRINGS MORE VALUE TO THE TABLE.”

“Because of my experience using their products previously, Wilson Tool was my first call when we started this company. We really viewed them as a partner rather than just a supplier. Their salespeople not only knew the tooling but also knew the machines we would use it on, their limitations and their advantages. Wilson Tool’s input was of great value to us. Their ability to work with us through the design process to create the right custom press brake tooling was another benefit. All this combined with the longevity and repeatability of their tooling brings more value to the table.”

For more than 40 years, Wilson Tool International® has provided industry-leading tooling solutions that enhance the performance of sheet metal fabricators worldwide. Our knowledgeable global sales force, multilingual customer support staff, same-day shipping and extensive distribution network are just a few of the benefits that keep our customers coming back time and again.
